Are You Focused ? 😃

Many people keep watching the clock…

“How much time has passed?”

“When will this be over?”

But a focused person is different.

They do not watch the time… they watch the result.

While others count minutes,

a focused person counts efforts.

While others get tired,

they remember their goal.

They know that one hour of work in the right direction can create a difference of years.

Everyone gets the same amount of time…

but results come only to those who do not chase time,

but chase their dreams.

So today, stop watching the clock…

start watching your target.

Because…

A focused person does not watch time, they watch results.
